

6 Things That Destroy Our Rainforests

The rainforest may seem tall and strong, but without our protection, they may not be around forever. Let's look at two examples and use the clues below to fill in the blanks on this infographic, explaining how vulnerable they really are.

Mining:

When people dig into the ground to find valuable minerals like gold, it can damage the rainforest and disrupt the habitats of animals.

Climate Change:

Changes in the Earth's climate, like higher temperatures and irregular rainfall, can make it difficult for the plants and animals in the rainforest to survive.

