

Ocean Currents

Everything is connected - The amount of sea ice in the Arctic can change the weather in every country on Earth!

The currents of the ocean are affected by the amount of sea ice in the Arctic and Antarctica. These currents determine the weather and also assist animals with their global navigation.

Ocean Currents

Everything is connected - Label and colour the various continents of the Earth and include the ocean currents in your diagram.

The currents of the ocean are affected by the amount of sea ice in the Arctic and Antarctica. These currents determine the weather and also assist animals with their global navigation.

