

A portrait of David Attenborough, an elderly man with white hair and a serious expression, wearing a blue button-down shirt under a dark jacket. The background is a textured, olive-green forest scene. A white speech bubble with a black outline and a striped tail is positioned in the upper right corner, containing a quote and the name David Attenborough.

"The natural world is not just a collection of resources to be exploited, it is a community of living beings with whom we share this planet."

David Attenborough