Things to Teach

Talk to your partner about the importance of a front cover. Point out the title, characters, background and the author's name.

Read pages 20-25 with your partner and play a game of true or false. Ask your partner to show you how they came up with the answer.

Talk about what inferential clues are with your buddy and use the task card to identify them and discuss the answers together.

Show your buddy a copy of your front cover. Log them into Canva and help them to create their own version. Go slowly, this may take time!

If your buddy wants to put their own character into their story. Use the skills you have developed to show them how to take their drawing and upload it into the Canva system.
